Title (3m) - author (2m) - The speaker (2m)

The addressee (2m) - The occasion (3m) and the main idea (2m)

1 - This passage is taken from "The Force of Circumstances" by W. Somerset Maugham. The speaker is the author. The addressee is the reader. Here Guy is bored from loneliness, so his friend Abdul advises him to hire a girl in order to help him. His friend says "if you don't like her send her away". The white people treat the black people as slaves. The main idea is hypocrisy.

2. This passage is taken from "The Withered Arm" by Thomas Hardy. The speaker is the author. The addressee is the reader. Here Trendle tells Gertrude that she has to go to the jail in order to put on her withered arm on the neck of the hanged man in order to regain blood to her arm. So she loses her sympathy when she starts longing for the death of any person even he was innocent. The main idea is determination.
