ACROSS AFRICA

For six hours we shot through the barren landscape of the Karoo desert in South Africa. Just rocks and sand and baking sun. Knowing our journey was ending, Daniel and I just wanted to remember all we had seen and done. He used a camera. I used words. I had already finished three notebooks and was into the fourth, a beautiful leather notebook I'd bought in a market in Mozambique. Southern Africa was full of stories. And visions. We were almost drunk on sensations. The roaring of the water at Victoria Falls, the impossible silence of the Okavango Delta in Botswana. And then the other things: dogs in the streets, whole families in Soweto living in one room, a kilometre from clean water.

As we drove towards the setting sun, a quietness fell over us. The road was empty – we hadn't seen another car for hours. And as I drove, something caught my eye, something moving next to me. I glanced in the mirror of the car; I glanced sideways to the right, and that was when I saw them. Next to us, by the side of the road, thirty, forty wild horses were racing the car, a cloud of dust rising behind them – brown, muscular horses almost close enough to touch them, to smell their hot breath. I didn't know how long they had been there next to us.

I shouted to Dan: 'Look!' but he was in a deep sleep, his camera lying useless by his feet. They raced the car for a few seconds then disappeared far behind us, a memory of heroic forms in the red landscape. When Daniel woke up an hour later I told him what had happened.

'Wild horses?' he said. 'Why didn't you wake me up?'

'I tried. But they were gone after a few seconds.'

'Typical,' he said. 'The best photos are the ones we never take.'

We checked into a dusty hotel and slept the sleep of the dead.

- 8 What is Dannii's tip for making the long flight to Australia more comfortable?

Dannii Minogue loves travelling the world as much as her sister Kylie, but after working away she says there's no place like home ...

Melbourne is where I grew up so it obviously means a lot to me. It's a city that is constantly evolving. Melbourne people, like all Australians, enjoy travelling and their increasing experience of other countries means local tastes have changed. The city has become much more cosmopolitan.

One of the best places to visit is the Crown Casino, which features more than forty eating places all under one roof. Someone told me that in Melbourne you can sample the cuisines of seventy-five different countries; I haven't managed to eat my way through them all, but it's a wonderful challenge. And besides the top-class restaurants, you mustn't miss Melbourne's vibrant cafe culture, with wonderful beachside places at St Kilda.

If you enjoy your food, you will love exploring local produce markets. One I really like is the Queen Victoria Market on the corner of Queen and Elizabeth streets, which is open five days a week and sells a huge variety of fruit and vegetables.

My boyfriend joined me for my most recent trip home. It was fun showing him all the familiar landmarks, but also going to places I've never been before. From Melbourne, we took the Great Ocean

Road, a 150-mile highway that is a scenic delight. You pass through an area that includes the world-famous Twelve Apostles rock formations, the Otways rainforest and Bells Beach along with resort towns such as Torquay and Apollo Bay. We loved spending time on the beach, as well as visiting vineyards and taking in jazz music. It really was an amazing summer.

That said, we've still got a pretty extensive 'to do' list, including a trip to Queensland and the Barrier Reef. And although I've been to Hayman Island a couple of times, I'd like to get to know some of the more exclusive resort islands that can be reached only by private boat or helicopter.

The flight to Australia is a long one but perfectly comfortable if you follow a routine like mine. I get on board and immediately change into my flight pyjamas – one day I'm going to work out how to accessorise them with fashion items, but until then I just look like someone wearing pyjamas!

I just love to travel. It's an Aussie thing: as a people we are up for jumping on a plane and going off to explore. I can't wait to see where I'll go next.

- 1 family/Australian coast/whale/boat
- 2 Roger/drowning/saved/beach/Alice/beach/husband
- 3 dog/Indiana/3,000 miles/Rocky Mountains
- 4 Karen/beach/ring

Strange things happen when you travel ...

The Johnson family expected to see some whales when they chartered a boat to sail around the Australian coast. But they didn't expect a 30-foot humpback whale to leap out of the ocean onto their boat. Amazingly, no one was seriously hurt, not even the whale.

If you think that's unbelievable, how about the story of Roger Lausier? Aged four, he had wandered away from his mother on Salem beach, Massachusetts and was saved from drowning by a woman called Alice Blaise. Nine years later, the thirteen-year-old Roger was on the same beach when he saw a man fall overboard. Roger saved his life. The man turned out to be Alice Blaise's husband.

Some of the most incredible travel stories, it seems, are about a pet. In August 1923 the Brazier family, holidaying in Indiana, lost their dog, Bobbie, and had to return home to Oregon, 3,000 miles away, without him. Unbelievably, Bobbie travelled across icy rivers, climbed the Rocky Mountains and, six months later, arrived back home in Oregon.

Or more recently, Charlie, a cat who decided to take a nap inside the engine of his neighbour's car and ended up being driven 160 miles away. Luckily for him, he was completely unhurt.

What about the things people lose and find when they are travelling? Rings are top of the list. In Hawaii, Ken Da Vico, who is a professional diver, claims to find about fifteen wedding rings a year in the sea. He returns many of them to their owners. Even if a fish eats the ring, there is still hope. There are many cases of rings being found years later inside the stomachs of sharks, mussels and other kinds of fish. Less common is when the loser finds the lost ring, as happened when Karen Goode went to a beach in Wales and found a ring she had lost there ten years before.

6 Reference

Past Perfect Simple

We use the Past Simple to talk about something that happened in the past, e.g. I was ill.

We use the Past Perfect Simple to talk about what happened before that, e.g. I had eaten something bad.

We use it to make the order of events clear.

I was ill because I'd eaten something bad.

We don't need to use the Past Perfect Simple when the sequence of events in the past is clear:

I came home and turned on my computer.

The Past Perfect uses many of the same expressions as the Present Perfect (since, for, already).

Uses of like

- 3 To suggest or offer something.
I'll help you, if you like.

As a preposition

- 1 Similar to something or happening in the same way.
He eats like a horse.
We often use look, sound, feel, taste with this meaning.
Sam looks like a popstar.
We can also use look like and feel like with a more idiomatic meaning.
It looks like Rachel is going to be late again!
I don't feel like going.
When like is a preposition and is followed by a verb we use -ing.
- 2 Used to give an example (instead of such as).
Big cities like London can be expensive.

What's London like? It's enormous.

Reading

- 6 What do you think is the connection between light bulbs, crisps, bread and post-it notes? Read the article to find out.

Mistakes that work ...

People who don't make mistakes are unlikely to learn anything.

The best way to learn something is to make mistakes first. Thomas Edison, who invented the light bulb, told his colleagues: 'Of the 200 light bulbs that didn't work, every failure told me something I was able to incorporate into the next attempt.' Benjamin Franklin, the US statesman and scientist once said: 'I haven't failed, I have had 10,000 ideas that didn't work.'

Both these people understood that failures and false starts are the condition of success. In fact, a surprising number of everyday objects had their beginnings in a mistake or a misunderstanding. Post-it notes, packets of crisps and even bread are all unexpected inventions. In 2600 BC, a tired Egyptian slave invented bread when the dough rose during his sleep. And crisps were first cooked by a chef in the USA when a customer complained that his fried potatoes were not thin enough.

In 1968 Spencer Silver was trying to develop a strong adhesive when he accidentally invented a very weak glue instead. His colleague, Art Fry, decided to use it six years later, in 1974, to hold his bookmarks in his books and the post-it note was invented.

Successful businesspeople have often made big, expensive mistakes in their past. When an employee of IBM made a mistake that cost the company $600,000, Thomas Watson, the chairman, was asked if he would fire the man. 'Of course not,' he replied. 'I have just spent $600,000 training him. I am not going to let another company benefit from his experience.'

The important thing to remember is that you need to learn from your mistakes. If you don't, then there is no sense in making them.

- 7 Write the questions for the following answers.

200

How many of Edison's lightbulbs didn't work?

- 1 10,000
- 2 2600
- 3 1968
- 4 1974
- 5 600,000

- 8 Work in pairs and discuss the questions.

- 1 Do you agree with what the article says about mistakes?
- 2 Give an example of a time when you did/didn't learn from your mistakes.

- 9 Read the Lifelong learning box and complete the exercise.

Using a correction code

! Sometimes you can learn by correcting your own mistakes. Your teacher could use a correction code to help you.

WW – wrong word
WT – wrong tense
WF – wrong form
WO – wrong order
Sp – spelling
P – punctuation
M – something is missing

Use the correction code in the text below. Then correct the mistakes.

I started learning drive (WF) when I am seventeen. I very nervous. My father tort me in his car to drive and everytime I did a mistake he shouted to me it took me long time to learn.

► At the age of 100, Rose Hacker started a new career as a journalist after a newspaper editor heard her giving a speech. This career was just one of many she had in her lifetime. Her first job was as a clothes designer, buyer and model for her father's fashion business. She also managed to find the time to do charity work and teach in the evenings. Later she became a marriage counsellor and even a member of parliament. She said of old age, 'You need to keep as interested as you can.' She died at the age of 101.

She recently made a television programme, Joan Does Glamour, with the aim of showing younger women how they can dress with a bit more style.

Joan insists that she has never had plastic surgery and that she never will. She claims that her good looks are a result of good skincare and make-up.

► Anna Moses, better known as 'Grandma Moses', began her career as a painter in her seventies after she gave up embroidery because she couldn't hold a needle anymore. She lived until 101 and became very famous in her own lifetime for her pictures of country scenes in America. At first she used to charge $2 for a small painting and $3 for a larger one, but one of her paintings was recently sold for $1.2 million.

Some methods for memorisation

Finger Method

Just 'count' new words on your fingers to help you remember them. This technique is useful for things like lists, numbers and days of the week, though it doesn't always help you remember things long term.

Linking Method

To use this method, create sound or sight links between the new word or phrase and a word that actually has a different meaning, but sounds similar in your own language. For example, an English person trying to learn the Spanish word 'banco' (bench) could imagine themselves sitting on a bench outside a bank.

Pictorial Method

Imagine a scene or picture that really reminds you of that word. It doesn't have to mean the same, but it needs to be strongly connected in your mind. Draw the picture.

Mnemonics Method

Take the first letter of a series of words you want to learn and make a new word from the first letter of each one. For example:

Boring, Understanding, Calm,
Knowledgeable, Encouraging, Tolerant →
BUCKET

Or use the words to make a sentence.
For example:

Collect, butterfly, exciting → Karen collects exciting butterflies.

Story Method

Make up a story using the new words in a setting or context that helps you remember them.

Subject and object questions

Object questions

When a Wh- question word is the object of the question, we use the normal question word order.

Form: question word + auxiliary + subject + verb

Who did you shout at?

What did you buy?

Most questions that we ask are object questions.

Subject questions

When a Wh- question word is the subject of the question, the word order is the same as an affirmative sentence (there is no 'inversion' and we don't use an auxiliary verb).

Form: question word + verb + object

Who shouted at you? (NOT: ~~Who did shout at you?~~)

What happened? (NOT: ~~What did happen?~~)

used to and would

I used to live in Rome.

She didn't use to like olives.

She wouldn't return my phone calls.

Did you use to live in Italy? Yes, I did. / No, I didn't.

Would your parents tell you off for shouting?

! There is no 'd' in the spelling of use to in negatives and questions.

We didn't use to like our teacher.

Did you use to study art?

We use used to and would to talk about repeated actions in the past which don't happen now. We only use used to to talk about states in the past.

They used to/would meet every day. (action)

I used to love him. NOT: ~~I would love him.~~ (state)

We use the Past Simple, not used to, to describe how long something lasted.

I worked in Italy for five years. NOT: ~~I used to work in Italy for five years.~~

We use the Past Simple, NOT used to/would, to talk about a single event in the past.

I broke my leg skiing. NOT: ~~I used to break my leg skiing.~~

We use the Present Simple, not used to, to talk about habits which are true now.

I usually play football three times a week.

Modals of ability, past and present

We use can, could and be able to to describe general ability.

I can swim but I can't dive.

I could speak French, but I couldn't speak German when I was at school.

I was able to run much faster when I was younger.

We do not often use be able to in the present tense unless it is after another verb.

I want to be able to help my kids with their homework.

We use be able to to describe when someone actually succeeded in doing something, not could.

She was able to visit him every week.

She could visit him every week. – This means she had the ability, but NOT that she actually did it.

If we want to emphasise that the action is difficult, we can use manage to in the present or past.

I usually manage to visit forty countries every year.

I managed to finish the book but it was very boring.

In the negative we can use couldn't, wasn't able to, and didn't manage to for a specific action.

I wasn't able to book the tickets.

I didn't manage to book the tickets.

UNIT 8

8.1 Changing the rules

The Forbidden Apple

Home to 8.2 million people, 36 percent of whom were born outside the United States, New York, known as the Big Apple, is the biggest city in America. Nearly twenty times bigger than the capital, Washington DC, you might expect New York to be twenty times more dangerous. Actually, it's safer. Recent figures show that New York now has fewer crimes per 100,000 people than 193 other US cities. It's also healthier than it used to be. For example, the smoking rate has gone down from 21.5 percent a few years ago, to 16.9 percent today.

New Yorkers should be delighted, shouldn't they? In fact, many feel that New York is losing its identity. It used to be the city that never sleeps. These days it's the city that never smokes, drinks or does anything naughty (at least, not in public). The Big Apple is quickly turning into the Forbidden Apple.

If you decided to have a picnic in Central Park, you'd need to be careful – if you decided to feed the birds with the last crumbs of your sandwich, you could be arrested. It's banned. Even riding your bike with your feet off the pedals is now against the law. And you'd better have a bell on your handlebars too, or face a fine.

In many countries a mobile phone going off in the cinema is irritating. In New York it's illegal. So is putting your bag on an empty seat in the subway.

If you went to a bar for a drink and a cigarette, that would be OK, wouldn't it? Er ... no. You can't smoke in public in New York City. In fact, you can't smoke outdoors on the street or in parks either.

Some of the laws are not actually new, but have never been enforced before now, so most people are not actually aware that they are breaking the law.

The result is a lot of fines for minor offences. An elderly woman, advised by her doctor to keep her leg elevated to avoid a blood clot, was given a $50 fine for resting a foot on the subway chair opposite her. Her appeal, backed by her doctor, was turned down. Elle and Serge Schroitman were fined for blocking a driveway with their car. It was their own driveway.

The angry editor of Vanity Fair magazine, Graydon Carter, says, 'Under New York City law it is acceptable to keep a gun in your place of work, but not an empty ashtray.' He should know. The police came to his office and took away his ashtray.

But not all of New York's inhabitants are complaining. Marcia Dugarry, seventy-two, said, 'The city has changed for the better. If more cities had these laws, America would be a better place to live.' Nixon Patotkis, thirty-eight, a barman, said, 'I like the new laws. If people smoked in here, we'd go home smelling of cigarettes.'

The new laws have helped turn the city into one of the healthiest and most pleasant places to live in America – very different from its old image of a dirty and dangerous city. Its pavements are almost litter-free, its bars clean and its streets among America's safest. Not putting your feet on subway seats might be a small price to pay.

Grammar | Second Conditional

4 Read the Active grammar box and choose the correct underlined words.

Active grammar

We use the Second Conditional to describe an imaginary/a real situation in the present or future and its result.

If more cities had these laws, America would be a better place to live.

In the if clause, use the Present Simple/Past Simple.

In the result clause, would (or 'd) is used because the situation is in the past/imaginary (hypothetical).

If people smoked in here, we'd go home smelling of cigarettes.

It is possible to use a modal verb such as could or might instead of would, if you are certain/not sure of the result.

If you decided to feed the birds with the last crumbs of your sandwich, you could be arrested.

First and Second Conditional:

In a real/possible situation we use the First Conditional/Second Conditional.

In an imaginary situation we use the First Conditional/Second Conditional.

The First Conditional/Second Conditional uses the Present Simple + will.

The First Conditional/Second Conditional uses the Past Simple + would.

8.2 Change the world

Comic marathon man raises £200,000

To the cheering of taxi drivers and the honking of horns, the comedian and actor Eddie Izzard ran into London yesterday to complete his 43rd marathon in 52 days. In total he had covered 1,100 miles.

Fighting blisters that have caused the nails on his smaller toes to fall off and his larger toes to swell into 'alien monsters', he ran up The Mall and into Trafalgar Square where he had started 7½ weeks ago.

In finishing he proved what many thought was an impossible task: that a 47-year-old comedian with no sporting experience could do something a top athlete might find difficult.

His 43 marathons were in aid of the charity Sports Relief, which raises money for the poor all over the world. So far Izzard has raised more than £200,000.

After only six weeks' training he started out on a journey that would take him to every corner of the British Isles. 'The first three weeks were the hardest,' he said. The non-stop pressure on his body led to sleepless nights and he would wake exhausted with 'blisters on top of blisters'.

But the people he met along the way cheered him up. 'People stopped their cars and cheered, they gave me money and food.'

More than 500,000 people 'followed' the comedian, in a different sense, on Twitter. Running into London he looked lean and muscular. 'Everyone says my legs look very good but I thought they looked quite good beforehand,' he said.

Simon Blease, 51, a sports doctor and mountain runner who has been following his progress, was waiting on Tower Bridge. 'I didn't think he could do it,' he said. 'Like a lot of people I thought he would have a good try, but his body would break down. Someone with so little training, I find it extraordinary that he has done it.'

Asked what he had gained, Izzard said: 'I know now I can do that. Sport is one of those words that stopped being part of my life when I was about 14. Sporting success was not something I ever associated myself with.' He now plans to continue jogging and hopes to inspire others into sport.

He then excused himself – to take an ice bath. 'I'm going to have a party somewhere that is dry and then I'm going to sleep for a week,' he said.

2 Read the article again and answer the questions.

- 1 What is Izzard's age and usual job?
- 2 What was his marathon-running in aid of?
- 3 How much training did he do for the marathon?
- 4 What effect did the run have on his body?
- 5 How did it change his view of himself?

8.3 Making the right decisions

Your life, your decisions

This week's problems

After leaving university, Linda got a well-paid job with a big city bank. She has now worked there for eight years and has been promoted twice. However, she isn't really happy in her work. She hates having to commute through the rush hour, doesn't enjoy office politics or the stress and long hours.

She has been considering quitting her job and going to work as a volunteer overseas. She would like to be doing a job where she is really making a difference to other people's lives. But should she take the plunge?

It depends what other responsibilities she has. If she doesn't have a family to support, then why not? You only live once.

Jack, UK

If she is so unhappy then I think she has no real alternative. She should leave – if she doesn't, she'll regret it.

Vikram, India

I think she has a number of different options. She could, for example, ask for a year's unpaid leave so that she could try out her new lifestyle and still come back to her job if it doesn't work out.

Chiara, Italy

Jack and his girlfriend Suzie have been together for six years. They were planning to get married and start a family in the near future, but Jack has just been offered a once-in-a-lifetime opportunity abroad. His employers want him to spend two years at the New York office. Suzie doesn't want to follow him to New York as she has just landed her dream job in London. Can they realistically maintain a long distance relationship? What should Jack do for the best?

If they want to make the relationship work long distance, then it's certainly possible. But maybe Jack secretly wants to put some distance between them. Is he ready for marriage?

Beata, Poland

I don't think long distance relationships ever work. Maybe for a while at the beginning of a relationship, but not like this. If he wants to stay with Suzie, he shouldn't go.

Ana, Brazil

I don't see the problem. They can talk to each other every day if they want to – it's cheap enough now online. Flights aren't that expensive either, and presumably the salary will be good. Jack should go for it!

Katie, Ireland

Second Conditional

To talk about an unreal/imaginary/hypothetical situation and its consequences, we use:

If + Past Simple + would('d)/wouldn't

If I had a car, I'd drive to work.

We can use would, could or might in the result clause.

I'd live in Jamaica if I could live anywhere.

The 'if clause' can come first or second in the sentence. If it is first, there is a comma before the result clause.

If I could live anywhere, I'd live in Jamaica.

When the subject is I and the verb is to be, we often say If I were.

If I were you, I wouldn't wear that dress again!

Adverbs

We usually make an adverb by adding -ly to the adjective.

interesting – interestingly quick – quickly

Some adverbs are irregular.

good (adj) – well (adv) hard (adj) – hard (adv)

Do you feel well? Natasha works hard.

- 1 Adverbs of manner describe how something happens – they modify the verb. They usually come after the verb.

The news spread quickly around the office.

Drive carefully!

- 2 Adverbs of frequency/probability describe how often something happens or how probable it is. They usually come before the main verb.

Newspapers rarely report on these important issues.

She'll probably arrive at six o'clock.

- 3 Adverbs of degree modify an adjective or a verb. They make it weaker or stronger.

It was totally unexpected.

He's quite late.

- 4 Attitude adverbs describe the speaker's attitude towards the information in the clause.

Luckily, the money was still there when I returned.

Surprisingly, he waited until the bus had left.

(These can come at the beginning/end of the sentence because they modify the whole sentence or clause.)

There is usually a comma after a sentence adverb.

- ! Some adjectives look like adverbs because they end in -ly, but they are not, e.g. silly, lovely, lively.

Third Conditional

We use this form to talk about imaginary or hypothetical past situations, and imagine different consequences.

If there hadn't been so much traffic on the motorway, I would have got to the meeting on time.

Form: If + past perfect + would have + past participle

To indicate possibility, rather than certainty, we can use might have/could have instead of would have.

If she'd studied harder, she might have passed her exams.

These unreal past situations have unreal past results.

If I'd studied Art I would have been happier.

Sometimes the hypothetical past situation has a present result.

If I'd finished my university degree, I'd be an architect now.
(If + Past Perfect + would + verb)

UNIT 9

9.1 Freedom at work

SEMCO

At twenty-one, Ricardo Semler became the boss of his father's business in Brazil, Semco, which sold parts for ships. Knowing his son was still young, Semler senior told him, 'Better make your mistakes while I'm still alive.'

Semler junior worked like a madman, from 7:30 a.m. until midnight every day. One afternoon, while touring a factory in New York, he collapsed. The doctor who treated him said, 'There's nothing wrong with you. Yet. But if you continue like this, you'll find a new home in our hospital.' Semler got the message. He changed the way he worked. In fact, he changed the way his employees worked too.

He let his workers take more responsibility so that they would be the ones worrying when things went wrong. He allowed them to set their own salaries, and he cut all the jobs he thought were unnecessary, like receptionists and secretaries. This saved money and brought more equality to the company. 'Everyone at Semco, even top managers, meets guests in reception, does the photocopying, sends faxes, types letters and dials the phone.'

He completely reorganised the office: instead of walls, they have plants at Semco, so bosses can't shut themselves away from everyone else. And the workers are free to decorate their workspace as they want. As for uniforms, some people wear suits and others wear T-shirts.

Semler says, 'We have an employee named Rubin Agater who sits there reading the newspaper hour after hour. He doesn't even pretend to be busy. But when a Semco pump on the other side of the world fails and millions of gallons of oil are about to spill into the sea, Rubin springs into action. He knows everything there is to know about our pumps and how to fix them. That's when he earns his salary. No one cares if he doesn't look busy the rest of the time.'

Semco has flexible working hours: the employees decide when they need to arrive at work. The employees also evaluate their bosses twice a year. Also, Semco lets its workers use the company's machines for their own projects, and makes them take holidays for at least thirty days a year.

It sounds perfect, but does it work? The answer is in the numbers: in the last six years, Semco's revenues have gone from $35 million to $212 million. The company has grown from eight hundred employees to 3,000. Why?

Semler says it's because of 'peer pressure'. Peer pressure makes everyone work hard for everyone else. If someone isn't doing his job well, the other workers will not allow the situation to continue. In other words, Ricardo Semler treats his workers like adults and expects them to act like adults. And they do.

The Engineer and the Manager

A man flying in a hot air balloon realised he was lost. He started to come down until he could see a man on the ground who might hear him. 'Excuse me,' he shouted. 'Can you help me? I promised my friend I would meet him a half hour ago, but I don't know where I am, or where I am going.'

The man below responded: 'Yes. You are in a hot air balloon, approximately 30 feet above this field. You are between 40 and 42 degrees North Latitude, and between 58 and 60 degrees West Longitude.'

'You must be an engineer,' responded the balloonist. 'I am,' the man replied. 'How did you know?' 'Well,' said the balloonist, 'everything you have told me is technically correct, but I have no idea what to do with this information, and the fact is I am still lost.'

Whereupon the man on the ground responded, 'You must be a manager.' 'I am,' replied the balloonist, 'but how did you know?' 'Well,' said the man, 'you don't know where you are, or where you're going. You've made a promise which you can't keep, and you expect me to solve your problem. The fact is you are in the exact same position you were before we met, but now it's my fault.'

9.3 New on the job

Operatunity

A

Operatunity is a TV talent show for amateur opera singers. The winners get the chance to sing with the English National Opera. When two housewives, Denise Leigh and Jane Gilchrist won in 2002, their lives changed forever. As they sang Verdi's Rigoletto at the Coliseum in Rome, they were transformed from working mothers into opera celebrities.

B

'I live in the village I was born in,' says Denise, who is blind and was a full-time mother. 'Lots of my neighbours are family, and my life revolved around my three children.' Jane, who worked as a cleaner and a shop assistant, was in a similar situation. She says, 'All I had to look forward to was seeing my four children grow up, and I love that, but ... you think "there must be more to life"'. Winning Operatunity has opened up avenues I never knew existed.'

C

'This last year has been amazing,' Denise continues. 'Last month was Paris, before that we were recording at Abbey Road, in London, and recently we had our album launch at the Royal Opera House.' 'We've been treated like princesses,' laughs Jane. '... champagne, chocolates, five-star hotels ...'

Reading

1 Work in pairs and discuss the questions.

- What do you think are the best and worst things about being famous?
- Would you like to be famous? What for?

2 Read the article and answer the questions.

- What was Jane and Denise's dream job?
- How did they achieve it?
- What problems did they have?

3 a Match the headings (1–5) with the paragraphs (A–E) in the article. Underline the phrases in the article that helped you.

- The difficult parts
- Living the new life
- The competition
- Their lives before
- Advice

D

But it hasn't all been about being treated like royalty. For Denise, the worst part was waiting at the beginning. 'After I'd sent in my application form I worried for a month. Then I had to wait ten days after my first audition. That was awful.' Even when they won the competition they were allowed to tell their close family, but they weren't allowed to tell anyone else until later. Denise and Jane also found the travelling difficult. They couldn't take their children with them while they were away singing so they had to organise childcare.

They also had to learn to deal with the media. 'The kids loved the fact that they could stay up and watch us on TV, but I just couldn't understand why some newspapers were more interested in the fact I divorced at 21, rather than the fact I had just sung at the Coliseum,' says Denise.

E

When asked if they'd recommend the experience, Denise says, 'It's been the most fantastic thing I've ever done. I wake up in the morning and think I must be the luckiest person in the world. My profession is something I used to do as a hobby.' And their advice to other hopeful singers out there? 'Live your dream,' says Jane.

4 Read the summary. Find nine mistakes and correct them.

Jane and Denise won a pop singing competition on the radio, even though Denise is blind. The competition gave them the opportunity to sing a famous Beatles' song at Wembley Stadium, and it changed their lives forever. Although they are both housewives with families – Denise has three children, and Jane has two – they now get the chance to travel and see the world, singing. Their new lives have not been very exciting, and they have been treated very well. They found the travelling easy because their children were grown-up. They would recommend the experience to other singers, and say that if your dream is to sing, you should keep it as a hobby.

9 Reference

make, let, allow

We use make + object + verb (without to) to talk about obligation imposed by another person or set of rules.

My father makes me clean my room. (She doesn't want to clean the room, but she has to clean it.)

She didn't make/never made us work very hard.

Passive form: be + made + verb with to.

We were made to clean the whole house.

We use let + object + verb (without to) to talk about permission.

Mum lets/doesn't let me drive. (She says it's OK/not OK.)

It is not possible to use let in the passive form.

We use allow + object + verb with to to talk about permission. The meaning is similar to let.

My parents allow me to stay out late.

Passive form: be + allowed + verb with to.

They weren't allowed to borrow the money.

Reported speech

When we report what someone said, we usually change the tense one step back to show that the words were said in the past.

Present Simple → Past Simple

'I live in São Paulo.' She said she lived in São Paulo.

Present Continuous → Past Continuous

'I'm working for a fashion company.'

He said he was working for a fashion company.

Present Perfect/Past Simple → Past Perfect

'I've been here for three months.'

She told me she had been there for three months.

will → would

'I'll go tomorrow.' He said he would go the next day.

Time references can also change in reported speech.

'Call me later today or tomorrow.'

She told me to call her later that day or the next day.

Pronouns can also change in reported speech.

'I'll see you soon.' He said he would see us soon.

If what the person said is still true, we can keep the present tense.

'I still love you.' She said she still loves me.

Look at the verb patterns for say and tell.

Say cannot have a person as its object.

She said (that) it was late. NOT: ~~She said me ...~~

Tell must be followed by a person.

He told me I was special. NOT: ~~He told that ...~~

He told me to lock the door. NOT: ~~He told to me ...~~

Reported questions

'What time is it?' He asked me what time it was.

'Do you understand Spanish?' She asked me if/whether I understood Spanish.

In reported questions the word order is the same as in affirmative statements because they are not actually questions.

The auxiliary verb (do/does/did) is not used.

'What do you do?' He asked me what I did/I do.

NOT: ~~He asked me what do I do.~~

In Yes/No questions we use if/whether.

'Do you live in Italy?' She asked if I lived in Italy.

Tenses may shift back, as for reported statements.

'What time is it?' She asked what time it was.

Pronouns and time/place references may change.

'Will you still be here tomorrow?'

He asked if I would still be there the next day.

Past obligation/permission

To talk about obligation in the past, we use had to + verb.

We cannot use must in the past.

We had to be smart, but we didn't have to wear suits.

To talk about permission in the past, we use:

allow (see above) and could + verb.

We could watch TV, but we couldn't stay up late.

It was long ago

I'll tell you, shall I, something I remember?
Something that still means a great deal to me.
It was long ago.

A dusty road in summer I remember,
A mountain, and an old house, and a tree
That stood, you know,

Behind the house. An old woman I remember
In a red shawl with a grey cat on her knee.
Humming under a tree.

She seemed the oldest thing I can remember,
But then perhaps I was not more than three.
It was long ago.

I dragged on the dusty road, and I remember
How the old woman looked over the fence at me
And seemed to know

How it felt to be three, and called out, I remember
'Do you like bilberries and cream for tea?'
I went under the tree

And while she hummed, and the cat purred, I remember
How she filled a saucer with berries and cream for me
So long ago

Such berries and such cream as I remember
I never had seen before, and never see
Today, you know.

And that is almost all I can remember
The house, the mountain, the grey cat on her knee,
Her red shawl, and the tree.

And the taste of the berries, the feel of the sun I remember
And the smell of everything that used to be
So long ago.

Till the heat on the road outside again I remember,
And how the long dusty road seemed to have for me
No end, you know.

That is the farthest thing I can remember.
It won't mean much to you. It does to me.
Then I grew up, you see.

10.3 Saying goodbye

We're letting you go.

One company text-messaged its employees, asking them to check their email to see if they had been retained. Those who had lost their jobs were not contacted at all. It's probably not the nicest way to find out that you are now unemployed. But it's maybe better than some. A recent survey in New Zealand found that several people claimed to have been fired by post-it note.

Or, using a newer technology, an employee in the North of England was recently fired for turning up late. Fair enough, you might think, but was it really acceptable to sack her by sending her a message on Facebook?

A receptionist for a certain company was asked to train up a new assistant. One day she came back from lunch and found that her security card didn't work. 'What's going on?' she asked. The reply? She had been replaced by her new 'assistant'.

It is impossible to come up with a 'nice' way to fire someone, but managers should at least do it in private and show respect for the employee. The problem is that bosses often panic. They are worried that the fired employees will steal important information. And they are sometimes right: in one company, the fired staff stole computers and other equipment and nearly destroyed the company's offices as an argument turned into a riot.

I wish/If only

We use wish to say we would like something to be different from the reality.

To talk about a wish in the present, or a permanent wish, use wish + Past Simple. The most common verbs are wish + was/were and wish + had.

She wishes she was taller.

I wish I had a pen.

With the verb to be you can also say I wish I were/she wishes she were.

She wishes she were taller.

To talk about a wish in the past, use wish + past perfect.

He wishes he had gone to the exhibition yesterday.

I wish I hadn't eaten that sandwich.

We use wish + object + would to show you want something to change. We often use this structure to show anger or annoyance.

I wish she would come on time.

I wish you wouldn't make that noise.

! We can't say: I wish I would.

We use wish + could to talk about an ability that you want but don't have.

I wish I could play chess as well as you.

I wish I could fly.

! We don't usually use wish + couldn't.

We can also use if only instead of I wish. The meaning is a little bit stronger than I wish.

If only we could go home!

If only they hadn't taken the money!

Review of past tenses

We often use the Past Simple, Past Perfect and Past Continuous for narratives.

The Past Simple is used for the main completed events of a story.

I took the money and ran.

The Past Perfect is used to make it clear that one action happened before another action.

I knew I'd seen him before.

The Past Continuous is used for an action in progress when the main events happened. It's often a background action in the narrative.

When I got outside, it was raining hard.

I was living in Paris when I married Lily. I'd met her in Austria.

Phrasal verbs

There are four main types of phrasal verbs:

1 Intransitive

The verb takes no object.

I grew up.

2 Transitive – separable

The verb takes an object and the verb and particle can split.

I turned off the light.

I turned the light off.

I turned it off.

When the object is a pronoun (he/she/it, etc.) the verb and particle must split.

NOT: ~~I turned off it.~~

3 Transitive – inseparable

The verb takes an object, but the verb and particle cannot split.

He got on the bus.

NOT: ~~He got the bus on.~~

4 Three-part
